

Welcome to Room B117

April 15 - 19

This week at school!

- This week we will explore nonfiction books. We will discuss how nonfiction books provide us with information about real people, places, and things.
  - In Reading, students will learn a new hunk & chunk /sh/. Have your child practice writing words with this consonant digraph (ship, shop, shed, shut, fish, wish, mash). Challenge your child with words that contain two hunks & chunks: shoot, sharp, shook, tooth.
  - In Writing, we will continue our book project following the writing process. We have completed the graphic organizer, rough draft and are presently working on our final copy. This has been time consuming, but worth it! Next will be the illustration.
- In Math, students will solve addition and subtraction word problems to 10. Children will determine if the story problem is solved through adding or subtracting. (We circle the sign to help us remember if we are adding or subtracting).
- Math Vocabulary: number sentence, add, subtract, equals sign (=), equation, plus sign (+), minus sign (-), total, quantity.
  - In Science, we will learn about poison ivy.
