

Welcome to Room B117

March 4 - 8

This week at school!

- This week we will read folktales, which are stories, passed down from generation to generation. They provide an insight into people's motivation, feelings, and values. These stories often show goodness rewarded and evil punished which appeals to children's sense of justice.
- In Reading and Writing, we will practice words that end in an x. Children will hear /k//s/ sound in this letter. We will also practice words that begin with q. Students will understand that the letter q makes a /k//w/ sound and know that when spelling words, q is usually followed by a u. In Math, students will continue our lessons on subtraction. We will try different strategies to find the answer by using a number line, drawing a picture, and counting backward in our head.
- Math Vocabulary: number sentence, add, subtract, equals sign (=), equation, plus sign (+), minus sign (-), total.
